Katalog znaczków pocztowych o tematyce nurkowej

Oparty na zbiorach:

Ostatnia aktualizacja – maj 2026

Zaprezentowany opis walorów filatelistycznych nie jest profesjonalnym katalogiem spełniającym wszystkie wymogi tego typu publikacji. Nie wszystkie pozycje zostały zidentyfikowane według numeracji profesjonalnych katalogów, szczególnie dotyczy to wydań z ostatnich kilku lat. Aby umożliwić skorzystanie z „Katalogu" przez jak najszersze grono czytelników został on był pomyślany jako publikacja w języku angielskim w związku z czym nazwy państw są uporządkowane według pisowni angielskiej, podobnie jak opisy walorów filatelistycznych. Kryteria kwalifikacji do przedstawionego zbioru są indywidualnym wyborem pomysłodawcy Macieja Lipskiego.

Kryteria kwalifikacji

„Katalog" obejmuje wszystkie znaczki (często całe serie), tematyczne koperty i kartki pocztowe, aerogramy, karnety pocztowe, oficjalne kasowniki pocztowe poświęcone nurkom, nurkowaniu, sprzętowi nurkowemu, łowiectwu podwodnemu, batyskafom, pojazdom i dronom podwodnym, postaciom J. Verne i innych pisarzy science fiction, osobie J. Y. Cousteau i innym eksploratorom podwodnego świata.

„Katalog" nie obejmuje tematyki łodzi podwodnych (submarines), wodnych bogów, syren itp., postaci z filmów Disneya i podobnych filmów rysunkowych, kopert dokumentujących zanurzenia pojazdów podwodnych (tzw. dive log) oraz poza wyjątkami wydań prywatnych i znaczków spersonalizowanych. Dotyczy to również bardzo drogich wydań Ukrainy z ostatnich kilku lat.

Koperty FDC (pierwszy dzień obiegu) prezentowane są wyłącznie w przypadkach kiedy posiadają tematyczny kasownik lub oficjalna koperta jest poświęcona nurkowaniu.

PLONGÉE AUTONOME EN TERRE ADÉLIE

Couleurs : vert, brun, bleu
25 timbres à la feuille

Dessiné et gravé en taille douce
par René QUILLIVIC
Format : 36 x 48

Pour la première fois a été utilisée en Terre Adélie, en janvier 1987, la plongée en scaphandre autonome pour récolter la faune sous-marine vivant à proximité de la base Dumont-d'Urville. Les biologistes marins français désiraient depuis longtemps développer des programmes antarctiques sur les adaptations de la faune marine aux conditions extrêmes, de température en particulier. Cependant, la récolte des animaux soulevait de nombreux problèmes techniques : nécessité de la présence d'un navire océanographique de petite taille pour s'approcher entre les icebergs de la falaise de glace que constitue la côte, problème de sécurité de navigation de ce petit navire hors de la présence du Polar Bjorn, difficulté d'utilisation des engins de récolte tels dragues, bennes, chaluts, etc. sur des fonds le plus souvent constitués de dalles rocheuses lisses dans des conditions climatiques le plus souvent très défavorables même pendant l'été austral (vents catabatiques). C'est pourquoi la plongée en scaphandre autonome est apparue la solution technique la plus souple, la plus légère et... la moins onéreuse.

Ces plongées ne constituent pas, bien sûr, une première en Antarctique. Américains, Russes, Australiens, Chinois, Chiliens, pour ne citer que les principaux, ont depuis une dizaine d'années prospecté on plongée des secteurs côtiers du continent antarctique. Et chacun se souvient du magnifique reportage réalisé par l'équipe du Commandant Cousteau et de «La Calypso» sur des plongées sous les icebergs de l'Antarctique il y a une vingtaine d'années déjà.

Deux scientifiques ont participé à cette première mission à ces premières prospections sous-marines en Terre Adélie :

Jean-Pierre Féral, chargé de recherche au CNRS, spécialiste de la biologie des Échinodermes (oursin, étoiles de mer, etc.) et Pierre Laboute océanographe biologiste de l'ORSTOM, technicien plongeur et l'un de nos meilleurs photographes sous-marins. Au cours de leur séjour de 15 jours à Dumont-d'Urville, 19 plongées ont été effectuées autour de l'archipel de la Pointe-Géologie par des profondeurs maximales de 30 mètres. La durée de ces plongées a pu parfois dépasser une heure grâce à un équipement spécialement adapté aux eaux antarctiques dont la température était de – 1,6 °C. De nombreuses espèces ont été récoltées et sont actuellement étudiées dans notre laboratoire (identification, biochimie, activités métaboliques). La réussite de cette première mission permet d'envisager un développement rapide d'un plus vaste programme français de biologie marine dans le cadre des Expéditions Polaires Françaises.
